Seabass!

By Jesse Goode

This seabass season has had a slow start for me . Ive been putting some time in trying to land a wsb to no avail. So last Saturday Kory Bersuch & I set out to hunt. We got out pretty early. En route to our spot, we see a couple buddy's already on it. So we make the quick decision to go plan B . I wanted to get in and check the scene quickly. Punch my first dive into loud croaking & surprisingly good vis. So I Give Kory the "it's going off in here" signal & continue on . On my 4th dive I see a nice strand to follow down and at about 15' I look to my left and see a tanker of a fish sitting at about 25'. At this moment I can't believe it and keep creeping up on it. I get to about 6' away from her and tell my self " you're close enough, you better take the shot, you're gonna spook it." I pulled the trigger and bam she took off like a bat out of hell . Next I gotta check my shot placement. I take a dive down to see a fully toggled slip tip . I shoot back up and had to chill out. My heart was racing with excitement & exhaustion all at the same time. It took a couple dives to cut kelp and retrieve, but finally got her to the boat.

Seabass

Kory continued to hunt for about an hour & then said let's take some pictures. Shout out to Kory for putting his gun down & taking some killer pictures of his friends .

Seabass

Well done Jesse!!!

By Lyle Davis

Steve P., New Tentative Jason and his buddy Kyle all went out on the Half Dozen to hunt for some White Sea Bass. Jason was the winner of the donated fishing trip on my boat. He is a great guy and his buddy Kyle would also be a wonderful addition to the club.

Thanks

Lyle
